Arcobaleno Terrazzo Tile Collection

Some things are classic for reason. Mid-century décor aficionados love terrazzo, the cement and marble chip composite that adorned floors in mod-style throughout the period.

However, Terrazzo's classic look dates back as far as 15th century Italy! Look carefully as you walk the ancient landmark sites there and you'll see it, still looking magnificent. In those days, it was poured on site, a complex and costly endeavor.

Now all the strength and beauty of terrazzo in a rainbow of colorful 8-inch tiles makes having this look simple and spectacular. Suitable for all horizontal and vertical applications in residential and commercial interiors. These tiles are pressed old fashioned Spanish style terrazzo tiles.

Intricate colors are injected into hand made brass molds. Tiles are then pressed and let it to dry for several days. Cement tiles must be cured naturally in order to give the most desirable color.
